

Hamilton County Museum of History

Noblesville, Indiana

The Old Hamilton County Sheriff's Residence and Jail was built in 1875, four years before the present Court House was built. It served as the Sheriff's Residence and the Hamilton County jail until 1977 when a new jail was completed on the East side of Noblesville. The Hamilton County Historical Society has the property leased from the County Commissioners and has begun the interior restoration and the development of the Hamilton County Museum of History.
