

children's long coats, from $1.25 up

worth double the price.

isses' Jackets, from $2.98 up, in good quality.

Wailers
EAST SIDE PUBLIC SQUARE HARTFORD CITY

EVENING NEWS.

NON-POLITICAL NEWSPAPER.

TELEPHONE NO. 51.

MONDAY, NOV. 18, 1895.

AND SO THEY WERE MARRIED.

JONES-CLOUSER.

At the home of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Clouser, just northwest of the city, this afternoon at 2 o'clock, Miss Mary Clouser was united in the holy bonds of matrimony to Edwin P. Jones. The ceremony was performed by Rev. L. A. Beeks in the presence of immediate relatives. The bride is the older daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clouser and is one of Hartford City's handsomest young ladies. She has those qualities of heart and mind that will make a faithful and loving help-mate. Mr. Jones is a glass blower. He came here from North Baltimore, Ohio, where his parents, who are among the best people of that city, reside. The groom is a young man of excellent talents. Although a comparative stranger he has made many friends by his gentlemanly demeanor and good principles. He fitted up a cozy abode in the Carroll property on south Jefferson street and the happy couple immediately went to housekeeping.

SHINN-GROENENDYKE.

Last evening at the residence of the bride's father, Byron Johnson, south of town, occurred the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. E. Shinn and Mrs. Isabella Groenendyke. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. L. A. Beeks in the presence of relatives, and Mr. and Mrs. Shinn afterward took possession of the home on west Washington street which the groom had prepared in anticipation of the happy event. Mr. Shinn is a popular and energetic young man who has made a success of the news and periodical business. His bride is an estimable woman who has the best wishes of all who know her. Both are to be congratulated. They begin housekeeping in an elegantly furnished home and the News hopes that the honeymoon may extend over a lifetime.

TOWNSEND-BAUGHER.

John Townsend, the well known carpenter, took unto himself a wife Saturday evening in the person of Miss Emma Z. Baugher, a most estimable young woman. The couple were united by Rev. L. A. Beeks at the parsonage. John is busy today receiving the congratulations of his friends.

MORSE-LANDON.

William Morse and Jennie Landon were married Saturday evening by Rev. L. A. Beeks at the M. E. parsonage. Mr. Morse is the well-known carpenter and Miss Landon has long been trusted employee of the Utility Paper company. They have the best wishes of all their friends.

VANCE-POWELL.

Thomas J. Vance and Mary A. Powell were united in marriage by Squire Clifton Saturday.

Leave your orders at the Bee Hive for large cakes.

Another Good House.

The operetta "National Flower," attracted another large audience at the opera house Saturday night. The performance was smoother than that of the previous evening. Not a little of the credit of this successful production is due to W. E. Ervin, the principal of the north school building, who had devoted several weeks to drilling the singers, and to Miss Anna Fulton, the accomplished pianist, who played the accompaniment. The soloists acquitted themselves with greater satisfaction than ever, and the choruses were rendered with a precision that was remarkable everything considered. The net receipts of the two performances were about $60.

Divorce Wanted.

Mrs. Henrietta Barnhart has filed a complaint for divorce from her husband, John F. Barnhart, on the ground of cruel treatment. Mr. and Mrs. Barnhart had been married nineteen years when, on the 6th of September, the husband drove the wife from home. The complaint alleges that Barnhart is worth $2,000 and a demand is made for $1,000 alimony.

A Debate.

The Jr. O. U. A. M. will have an open meeting and debate Thursday, Nov. 2, at 7:30 in Red Men's hall. The question is "Resolved, that the arts of man are more pleasing to the eye than the scenes of nature." Every body invited.

HOWARD SHOCKNEY, Com.

from which a woman's waist which Miss Gardner wore when she left Mrs. Bell's house last August. The Indianapolis woman was positive if the goods corresponded with the waist worn by the dead woman found on the South Side last September the body was that of Miss Gardner. Yesterday Coroner Sage went to the county infirmary burying ground and raised the lid of the coffin in which the woman was buried and took therefrom a piece of her waist. It was compared with the samples sent by Mrs. Bell and found to be identical in figure and texture. The coroner now believes that the woman may have been Miss Gardner, although the piece of dress goods sent by Mrs. Bell is a rather common print and therefore it does not constitute conclusive circumstantial evidence. The coroner will go to Indianapolis one day this week and endeavor to obtain from Mrs. Bell the mysterious information she claims to possess.

Fireman's Hall.

Architect Loney has prepared the plans for a fireman's hall on the South Side, which will be the handsomest structure of the kind in this section. It will be 32 by 32 feet in dimensions and will be surmounted by a beautiful tower. The firemen's hall will be 23 by 25 feet and the hose cart room 13.6 by 15.6, with an abundance of lockers and closets. The building will front south on Seventh street between Monroe and Mulberry streets. It will be an elegant acquisition to the South Side. It will cost in the neighborhood of $1,000 and the cost will be borne by the South Siders. The lot is the gift of the Hartford City Window Glass company, which also donates a large sum of money to the enterprise. Fireman's Hall on the South Side will put the north side to the blush. And as the citizens over there are enthusiastic they will have a fire department that will go ahead of the present department.

Mrs. Samuel Klinger, east Washington street, died yesterday of typhoid fever. Mrs. Klinger had almost recovered from the fever when she had a relapse which carried her off. She will be buried tomorrow in I. O. O. F. cemetery.

There will be prayer meeting at the mission building of the M. E. church at the corner of Mill and Kickapoo streets this evening, also cottage prayer service at the home of Henry Williams, on Kickapoo street.

Ed Gottschalk goes to Indianapolis this evening to represent the Hartford City Oddfellows in the Grand Encampment which meets tomorrow.

Dr. G. C. Saunders, Briscoe blk. tel. 87.