

OLD PICTURES GET ATTENTION

Will Be One of Features of Cicero Centennial

Some of the old photographs in the antique exhibit at the Cicero centennial are going to attract attention. They will not only be interesting from the view point of antiques but some of those appearing in the pictures as school kids are now grandparents. Among the pictures which have already been listed for this department of the centennial is district school No. 16, Jackson township, known to the older residents of the community as the Sumner school, which was located three miles west of Cicero. The pupils listed in the picture, which was taken in 1890 includes the following:

Ella Taylor, Sarah, Carrie and Grace Foulke, Bettie and Celia Davis, Zula and Bessie Cammack, Pettie, Bertha and Gertie Johnson, Richard and Laura Wiles, Charles O'Rear, Luther and Frank R-y's, Grace Buzan, Willie Jaynes, Loia Sims and Fred Sumner.

The school that year was taught by Mary Carson Wicker, of this city.
