

THE FOULKE FAMILY

Reunion to Be Held at Gwynedd on the Thirtieth of May

The Executive Committee in charge of the reunion of the Foulke family, to be held at Gwynedd, on May 30, decided yesterday to have a special train from this city to Gwynedd, on that date, stopping at Penllyn to visit the old Foulke homestead, near the latter station.

The house built some years after the arrival of the Foulkes in this country in 1698, is still standing. In it Edward Foulke, the emigrant from Wales, is supposed to have lived for a time. It is located on the Wharton estate and is occupied by J. A. Colwell, Jr. It has been decided to hold the reunion at the Friends' Meeting House, one mile from Gwynedd station.

Reports of committees show that 564 descendants of Edward and Eleanor Foulke have so far been located, and it is probable that 100 more will be heard from.

Robert R. Corson presided at the meeting, which was held at 921 Arch street, and Charles E. Jenkins acted as secretary.
